for the Pre- Placement Talk with MBA- Rural Development Students

26 February, 2026

10:00 - 11:30 am

The Institute had the privilege of hosting an insightful interaction with Mr. Vedprakash Sharma, CEO of B-ABLE Foundation on 26-Feb-2026, who shared valuable perspectives from over three decades of professional experience in the development sector.

The session provided Rural Development MBA final-year students with a comprehensive understanding of the journey from #campus_to_career, while highlighting the skills, mindset, and values required to succeed in today's professional environment.

Clarity of Purpose in Career Building

- A well-defined purpose is the foundation of meaningful career growth.
- A certain degree of anxiety is natural and can act as a positive driver for preparation and self-improvement.

Campus to Career: Workplace Readiness

- Understanding the transition from academic learning to professional expectations is crucial.
- Employers value respect, discipline, and a strong work ethic.
- Students must have clarity about what they have studied in the classroom and its practical relevance.
- Rural exposure and grassroots understanding strengthen professional perspective, especially in development and social sectors.

Employer and HR Perspective: What Organisations Look For

- Strong communication skills, including proficiency in English.
- Problem-solving ability and a proactive mindset.
- Team building and effective interpersonal relationships.
- Teamwork and conflict resolution skills.
- Strong ethical values — integrity and principles cannot be compromised.

#Preparing for the Future: Professional Growth Mindset

- Continuous learning and familiarity with professional tools.
- Willingness to take calculated risks and make informed decisions.
- Adaptability, curiosity, and openness to innovation.
- Social and emotional maturity in professional settings.
- Resilience in the face of challenges and uncertainties.
- The power of networking and the importance of relationships.

Such interactions play a vital role in bridging academic learning with real-world leadership and professional practice, inspiring students to build impactful careers.

We extend our sincere gratitude to Mr. Vedprakash Sharma and the B-ABLE Foundation for sharing their experience and wisdom with our students.
